

QUIET

Seems to Reign But Government Fears An Outbreak

NO FORMAL CEREMONY

To Be Arranged for the Coronation of Young King Manuel

Much Curiosity Excited as to the Contents of a Note from For- mer Premier Franco.

London, Feb. 10.—Quiet as Portugal seems to be, the new government evidently feels by no means certain that republican agitators are not still plotting an outbreak.

The Lisbon secret police are said to have information indicating that the incubation of conspiracies did not cease with the assassination of King Carlos and Crown Prince Luiz and several leaders of the radicals are reported under strict surveillance.

Rumors that the proclamation of a republic at Oporto Saturday was barely frustrated are unquestionably well founded. No information has yet been given out concerning the chief conspirators arrest or the seizure of their magazine of arms and ammunition but full details will probably come out when the suspects are brought to trial within the next few days. It is positively known that a number of prominent republicans were taken in custody at Oporto Friday and there seems small doubt that this alone prevented an uprising, which while perhaps insignificant in itself, might have started trouble throughout the entire country.

Elaborate precautions were taken today to prevent a repetition of Sunday's crush in the square in front of the Cathedral of San Vincent, where the bodies of the king and his son are lying in state. Several of those knocked down and trampled on in the crowd are still in a critical condition and there may be deaths in addition to that of the child whose corpse was dragged from the throng yesterday. The remains of the late king and his son will be transferred late this afternoon to the Pantheon for burial tomorrow.

The belief is growing that King Manuel will never be formally crowned preferring to enter on his reign without a ceremonial which he and his ministers are agreed in considering as out of date.

Much curiosity is felt considering the nature of the message former Premier Franco is said to have sent to Manuel from Bordeaux, France, where he is said to be awaiting an answer before going to Italy. The communication is reported to be highly important but just what it is no one but Franco seems to know.

The bodies of the regicides slain by the police and soldiery immediately after the assassinations will be buried tonight, the authorities fearing that public funerals might provoke revolutionary demonstrations.

Memorial services for King Carlos and Prince Luiz were held in the leading cities all over Europe yesterday.

FIVE THOUSAND RETURN TO WORK

Lorain, Feb. 10.—Five thousand men returned today to work at the big plant of the National Tube company, after several weeks of idleness. Officials say they have enough orders on hand to warrant the continual employment of these men and that additional orders expected will allow them to give employment to 9,000, the full capacity of the plant.

PANIC

Among Women Followed a Wreck on the Elevated Road in Chicago This Morning.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—Twenty persons were cut off when a Humboldt park train crashed into a Garfield park train on the Metropolitan tan elevated railroad this morning. Both trains were loaded with passengers for the city. A panic followed among the women. Many of them tried to jump over the guard rails. Policemen Luke Host and J. Meade, and Chas. Fremont were so seriously hurt that they were removed to the county hospital. Others were brought into the city, where they were looked after.

POLICE LOOKING FOR REVOLUTIONISTS

New York, Feb. 10.—The police of this city and Philadelphia are today searching for headquarters of certain India revolutionists, who are making preparations for a revolt against British rule and are shipping arms, field pieces and ammunition to the far east country. The chief of police of Calcutta is here assisting in the investigation. It is said that large shipments of arms and ammunition billed "sewing machines" and "condensed milk" have been made from this city and Philadelphia.

HARGIS REMANDED.

Jackson, Ky., Feb. 10.—Beach Hargis, the youthful slayer of his father, appeared in court today. He waived examination and was returned to jail without bail to await action of the grand jury, which convenes Monday. His mother will defend him with every dollar of her fortune.

TWO BIG BATTLESHIPS.

Washington, Feb. 10.—The House committee on naval affairs today voted to report a bill in the House authorizing only two battleships in the present Congress. They are to be of 20,000 tons each of the Delaware class. President Roosevelt's recommendation was for four battleships.

POPULAR MAYOR OF ST. PAUL HAS HELD OFFICE FOR 45 YEARS

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 10.—Robert A. Smith, the venerable mayor of St. Paul, who has held public office for 45 years, and who has occupied the mayor's chair for seven different terms and an unexpired half term, fifteen years in all, is down and out and at the age of eighty years leaves politics without a cent. Takes the Floor and Makes Formal Issue

WITH THE PRESIDENT

And Cites a Specific Case in Ohio, Where In- fluence Was Used

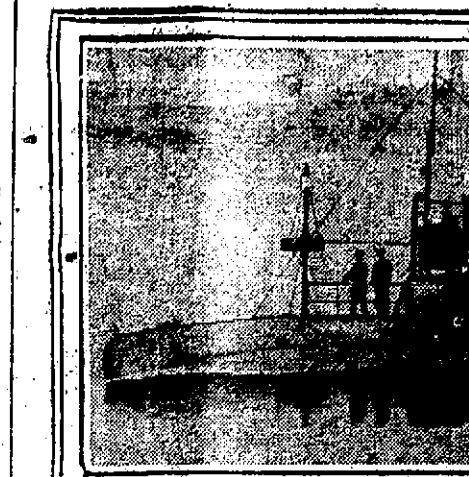

And an Interview Given by Athens Editor Cost Him the Appoint- ment as Postmaster.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Senator Foraker of Ohio, took the floor in the senate this afternoon on a "question of personal privilege" to answer statements made in the letter of President Roosevelt to William Dudley Foulke of Indiana with reference to federal appointments in Ohio. The Ohio Senator took direct issue with tional record in public life. Though once a man of much wealth, he is now penniless through unsuccessful business venture and misfortunes, and now with his wonderful vigor partially impaired, lacks even the modest competence which might mean the difference between comparative comfort and poverty.

the President's denial that patronage was not being used by the administration in an improper manner. The Senator disclaimed any intent of "bandying words" with the President and while recognizing the lack of interest by the general public as to who held public office, he was prompted by the attitude of the President as expressed in his letter to Foulke, to produce the case of an officeholder in Ohio who had been coerced. He cited the case of Charles Bryson, editor of the Athens, Ohio, Gazette, who had been given the post-office appointment during the recess of Congress without solicitation, but whose nomination later was held up because of an interview he had given out in Washington, expressing his disapproval of the attempt to shelve Foraker in Ohio. He read correspondence between Bryson and Representative Douglass, the latter informing Bryson that his interview had changed the President's mind and that Secretary Loe had informed him that Bryson could not have the office. Bryson in reply explained that he had not opposed Taft, but felt that there were stronger men, and had urged harmony in Ohio.

Foraker, with flushed face, exclaimed as he concluded reading the Ohio editor's letter, "There is no beating about the bush in that. No evasion. It is a conclusive statement in writing that influences, ay, menaces, if you please, have been used by the administration in its political effort." He said he didn't care to add to the letter "It is not necessary," he exclaimed, "for it speaks for itself." He charged that there were hundreds of letters in existence in Ohio and elsewhere "which could establish to any unbiased mind that this case doesn't stand alone, and that they would clearly show that not the President, may be, but those acting for him, were using federal patronage in aid of Taft."

JUDGE BRISTER

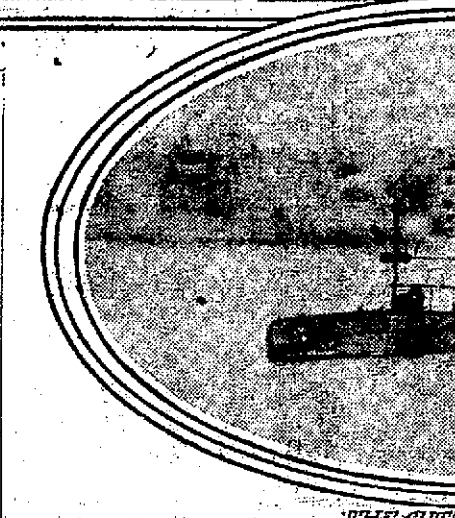

HAS QUITE AN EXCITING EXPERIENCE WITH AN INSANE MAN TODAY.

Has a Loaded Revolver in His Possession and Struggles Fiercely to Get Out of Court Room.

A very sad case of insanity came before the Probate court Monday morning. William Newlon, an aged and highly respected citizen of Franklin township, filed an affidavit charging his son, Ezra Newlon with insanity. He was brought into court on an inquest held. He is a young married man aged 22 years and his wife left him several months ago, which his father thought was the cause of his insanity. Drs. H. J. Davis and C. F. Legge were the examining physicians. The patient has all sorts of hallucinations; talks of the bank at the White House, legal tender currency, and about mail routes. He is quite dangerous and when he was brought into court Monday morning he had a loaded revolver in his possession, with which he had shot up the old homestead quite a little. The court adjudged the patient insane and he was taken over to the State Hospital Monday afternoon by Sheriff Redman. Probate Judge Brister had quite an exciting adventure with the insane man. After everybody had left the room with the exception of the old father, the patient started for the door to hunt up an imaginary bank. The sheriff and deputy were not present and the Judge had quite a struggle to prevent the insane man from getting away. The Judge did not know what moment he might draw his revolver. He finally succeeded in quieting him and holding him until the bailiff came and took charge of him.

THE CUTTLEFISH.

New York, Feb. 10.—Although rough weather is predicted along the coast, the three submarines, the Cuttlefish, the Tarantula and the Viper, left the New York navy yard for Hampton Roads, Lieutenant D. C. Bingham, in command of the flotilla, said he and the men had become tired of the delay of their departure. It is planned to make Hampton Roads without a stop, but if the weather becomes exceptionally rough, they probably will be driven to shelter somewhere along the coast.

Two Sets of Delegates From Southern States is the Plan to Defeat the Secretary.

New York, Feb. 8.—A Washington special is as follows:

Secretary Taft and the Administration forces are facing the crucial test of their strength. During the next fortnight the President and his friends will be called upon to exert every influence at their command to prevent the anti-Administration forces from obtaining a footing which would be sure to prove a serious menace to Secretary Taft's candidacy.

That the President will fight, and fight hard, is realized by his enemies. They have turned the management of the anti-Taft, anti-Administration campaign over to Senator W. Murray Crane of Massachusetts. Senator Crane, who directed the anti-Taft fight in Florida, is preparing to follow that contest with another in Texas.

While he realizes that the sentiment in favor of Secretary Taft is dominant in these states, as it proved in Florida, he purposes to have a handful of men in every state convention who will be ready to bolt and

BILL PROVIDES FOR PARCEL POST ALONG LINE OF RURAL ROUTE

Washington, Feb. 10.—Provision for the establishment of a parcels post on the rural mail routes of the United States, is made in a bill introduced in the Senate today by Senator Burnham, (Rep. N. H.), modeled along the lines recommended by Postmaster General Meyer in his annual report. The bill makes the parcels post idea applicable to every person residing along the line of a rural route. Lieutenant J. F. Daniels, the submarines left the navy yard about three o'clock. As they ploughed their way through the snow and ice blocked East river the queer looking craft awakened much interest among the crews of passing vessels and persons on the shore. With their black decks awash, their resemblance to monsters of the deep sea was remarked on all sides. On leaving the navy yard a strong tide carried them a short distance from their course up the East river, but when they turned their bows into the tide good speed was made toward the Narrows.

BATTLESHIP FLEET ENCOUNTERS STORMS IN THE STRAITS

Punta Arenas, Feb. 10.—The Pacific Navigation company steamship Orta, which arrived here yesterday morning, reports having passed the American fleet in the strait at 6 o'clock Saturday evening, 12 miles east of Cape Pillar. The Chilean cruiser Chacabuco was leading. The weather was very stormy.

The captain of the Orta said that he sighted 19 vessels in the fleet, these being the 16 American battleships, the Chilean cruiser and two others, probably colliers. He did not sight the American torpedo flotilla which accompanied the battleships from this port, but which turned north at Smyth channel, 30 miles from the westward end of Magellan strait, to proceed through this passage to Telchuan.

Owing to the heavy weather, the warships were spread out over a considerable stretch, but all seemed to be making splendid progress in the face of strong winds.

INCENDIARY BURNS FACTORY.
Steuenville, Feb. 10.—To a "Black Hand" incendiary is attributed the fire early yesterday morning destroying the building containing the wood, carving works of B. Schrivani & Son. Two Italian boys narrowly escaped from the building, in their night night clothes.

The measure is designed to benefit only those served by rural routes, persons without cannot make use of the lower postage rate. DENIES

That Her Marriage With Senator Davis is Off

BUT IT LOOKS THAT WAY

Family Reunion and Din- ner Given by Aged Mil- lionaire's Daughter

And Friends Say That the Family Opposition to the Nuptials Has Prevailed.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Washington is much interested today in the report that the engagement of Henry Gassaway Davis, Democratic candidate for vice president in 1904, and former senator, and Miss Maud Ashford, formerly a newspaper writer and social aide to the senator's daughters, has been broken. Miss Ashford issued a denial, but the circumstances surrounding it are such that many people are inclined to believe the report. Mr. Davis has declined to talk.

Senator Davis daughters, Mrs. Arthur Lee and Mrs. Stephen B. Elkins, have vigorously opposed such a marriage. Their opposition caused their father to leave Mrs. Lee's home and go to a hotel to live. Last night, however, Mr. Davis was back at his old home. A family dinner was held which was regarded as signifying the re-establishment of cordial relations between the senator and his daughters, and this could only have been effected, their friends say, by his breaking with Miss Ashford. The latter, before giving out her denial, said she wanted to consult her lawyer. Whether this means she will seek damages is not known.

MANAGER VORYS REMAINS HEAD OF TAFT CANVASS

Columbus, Feb. 10.—Secretary of War William H. Taft while passing through Columbus early yesterday morning on his way west, issued a statement which sets at rest all the wild rumors that Arthur I. Vorys is to be displaced as manager of the Taft campaign by either Assistant Postmaster General Frank H. Hitchcock or anyone else.

In his statement, Mr. Taft not only renews his expressions of confidence in Mr. Vorys but he also announces that the real headquarters of his campaign for the presidential nomination at the hands of the Chicago convention will be left in the capital city of Ohio, with the man who has so cleverly and completely enlisted the support of the Buckeye state for him, in charge of its affairs.

After making his intention to leave Mr. Vorys in full charge plain so that there will be no mistake about it, he further emphasizes the security of Manager Vorys in the saddle as campaign manager by adding that Mr. Hitchcock as a sub-manager will come to Columbus for his instructions from the real manager.

FARMER FOUND DEAD.

Dresden, Feb. 10.—Henry Sparks, a prominent farmer of near this place was found lying dead on the sitting room hearth at his home Saturday afternoon. The discovery was made by his wife upon her return home at 4 o'clock after a trip to Dresden. Death was probably caused by heart disease, as Mr. Sparks had been a sufferer from that disease for the past year, and the attacks had been returning with greater frequency during the past winter.

RIOT IN WORKHOUSE.

Cincinnati, Feb. 10.—A riot in the stone shed at the Cincinnati workhouse today resulted in the shooting of Geo. Bensch, a prisoner, by Guard Devens. Bensch was instantly killed. The riot started by Bensch attacking the guard. He hit Devens on the head with a club. Devens clinched with him. The prisoner attempted to wrench the gun out of the guard's hands. In the fight the gun was discharged, the contents striking Bensch.

AMUSEMENTS

THE WIDOW MCCARTY.

The Defiance, Ohio, Times has the following to say concerning the musical comedy, "The Widow McCarty," to be presented at the Auditorium on Thursday evening, February 13:

Everybody on the street this morning was whistling some one of the many tuneful airs of the "Widow McCarty," which was presented at the audience wishes that instead of three acts, there were six."

A PAIR OF COUNTRY KIDS.

Each year new plays are presented to the theater going public and the percentage of successes are few and the wise manager who can pick a winner these strenuous days of hustling, is to be congratulated. Manager Smith is to be congratulated in the success of "The Country Kids," for it ranks among last season's biggest successes. The play is really one of the best of its class and has proven just what the public wants—lots of fun, elegant scenery, a pleasing story and enough sensation to give it real life and color. One of the principal factors of the success has been the superb company selected to give it the naturalness and life-like portrayal of plays of this class. Actors who look and can act the parts assigned them and no caricatures but the real rural folks we see on the farm. "A Pair of Country Kids" will appear at the Auditorium Saturday afternoon and night, February 15.

LITTLE JOHNNY JONES.

"Little Johnny Jones" which comes which comes to the Auditorium next week is apparently as much of a favorite with theater goers as it was during the days of its initial presentation. It is one of the brightest, stappiest, most up to date musical plays seen for many a day, and the vim and vivacity shown in the work of the players have no little to do with the hit this play succeeds in scoring at each performance.

Young Mr. Cohan has devised some exceedingly clever situations, some of them melodramatic to a degree, and the web of melody which is so deftly woven throughout the three acts makes "Little Johnny Jones" an entertainment par excellence.

As a matter of fact, Mr. Cohan has supplied this particular play with more of his compositions than are noticeable in any of his other productions. The favorites seem to be "There's All My Friends," "Nestling in a New York Tree," "On in the 'Ansem," "Good Old California," "Good Bye Flo," "Yankee Doodle Boy," "Let's a Very Funny Proposition," "After All," and "Let's not let that international famous one, Give My Regards to Broadway." One of Mr. Cohan's most recent contributions to the musical world and insured in the production of "Little Johnny Jones," is a march entitled "Populism."

ORPHUM THEATER.

Shows new come and go, but the Orphum will be and to beat, being a well varied program full of comedy numbers, and most excellent musical entertainment, headed by the American Spectacular Trio, the clever singers and dancers, the acme of perfection.

Leonard and Louie, the physical culture models, do stunts that are wonderful. Raymond and Hess in a rural comedy sketch that is a sure laugh getter. John Appleby the famous banjoist. Mr. Lamont, the banjoist last week, stated that every professional man thought himself the best, but all of them doffed their hats to Mr. Appleby.

The song and pictures are again up to the standard. Seats on sale all day at the box office.

MRS. TEMPLE'S TELEGRAM.

The farce comedy, Mrs. Temple's Telegram, played to a fair business at the Auditorium Saturday night. While the company was not as good as the one here two years ago, yet they gave a very creditable performance and their work was appreciated.

We have broken loose from the shackles that have bound us and France is going onward and upward.

The splendid singing was inspiring. Dr. Cristion sang for the men. Mr. O. W. See's violin solo was greatly enjoyed. The attendance was one of the largest of the season.

DR. C. P. KING

GIVES FURTHER REMINISCENCES OF MEDICAL PROFESSION IN NEWARK.

Being a Continuation of His Former Paper About the Old Practitioners of the City.

In my previous article I inadvertently omitted some prominent names which now desire to recall.

Dr. Elisha Cooper was a prominent figure in the profession in early days. He was associated with Dr. Marble, under the names of Cooper & Marble. Dr. W. Stanbery, brother of Hon. Jas. R. Stanbery, came to our city to practice some time after graduating. He had his office with Dr. Edward Stanbery. The doctor sent him one day to Mary Ann Furnace to see a patient suffering from a severe attack of pneumonia. He told him to be sure and bleed him. The young doctor started on his mission, and being somewhat absent-minded, he kept saying to himself, "Bleed, bleed," in order not to forget his instructions. The patient was lying when he made his appearance, using such language that they ran from the house in mortal terror. He did not lead his patient as he found that he had forgotten his lancet. Dr. Stanbery declared that it was just a dodge, as he did not have nerve enough to bleed him.

Drs. Tuller and Blair were prominent practitioners in those days. Dr. Kitzmiller enjoyed a large German practice. I recall a little incident which occurred when I was quite a kid. I happened to be in the doctor's office one day when an old farmer came in to have a tooth extracted. The man's back tooth and hard to pull, he asked me if I would assist him and hold the man's head. I consented, not without some misgivings. I had to mount a chair in order to reach him. The tooth was extracted, and the man asked what the charge would be. Upon being told that it was a dollar, he said, "My son, what did I tell you? My son, what did I tell you? My son, what did I tell you?"

Dr. J. Worthington came to our city just after the great civil war. He had been a surgeon in the army and had made a splendid record. He was cast in rather a delicate mold, but was witty and a little bit of a humorist. He was my next-door neighbor for years and some of the earliest memories of my life cluster about his home and fireside, where we used to spend many a happy hour. He was a very capable man and a very good doctor.

There are a few reminiscences of the practice in early days which I have not mentioned to date. It is related of Dr. J. L. King that on one occasion a lady, a strong farmer presented himself at his office to have a tooth extracted. Dentists were then compartively unknown—the doctors did all the teeth extracting. The man wished to know what he charged for extracting teeth. The doctor examined the tooth and found that it would be difficult to extract, as it was imbedded in the gum as solid as a rock. He informed the patient that the usual charge was 25 cents, but if he did not hurt him he would not charge him anything. The doctor thinking he was perfectly safe in making that statement, the doctor made three attempts before he extracted the tooth, feeling that he almost killed the fellow, as he had to almost fracture his jaw in order to extract it. Having much to the doctor's surprise, the man jumped up, cracked his heels together and exclaimed, "Doc, it didn't hurt a bit!"

Dr. Roe related a case occurring in his practice which I will relate. He was sent for on one occasion to attend a man in the country who had received a severe injury to his leg, it had been caught in a threshing machine and was terribly crushed. On examination it was found that in order to save the man's life amputation would be necessary. The news was carried to him by his wife and he said, "Whatever the doctors decide upon I will submit to." They proceeded to operate, when suddenly the man raised up on the table, and raising his right hand, the doctors paused, supposing he had an important communication to deliver, fearing he would not survive the operation. He exclaimed, "Gentlemen, I wish it to be distinctly understood that if I die this operation, I die a Democrat." The operation proved successful, and he lived 40 years to vote the ticket.

I remember a little incident which occurred in my early practice. My preceptor, Dr. Hamill, sent me to see a patient who was suffering from a severe attack of pneumonia. He told me not to bleed him, but I had been taught not to bleed in these cases. The patient had swung in the opposite direction, in my reading at the time, as I was a little out of date. I saw the patient. It was a typical case of pneumonia. I did not bleed him, but wrapped his chest in a mustard poultice, and the patient recovered. I was very proud to quiet him. I called on the morning and found him sleeping as sweetly as a child. I did not see Dr. Hamill until the next day. He asked me how I got along and "how much blood I had taken from him." He was completely dumfounded when I explained the case. "Not a drop," he said. "I saw the patient with my own eyes, and was so pleased with my treatment that he threw aside his lancet and never used it again during his life."

In the early part of my professional career bleeding, cupping and blistering were very much in vogue. Every spring and fall large numbers of persons would present themselves to our office to be bled. That duty devolved upon me most of the time. The only kind of bleeding I do at present, and which is much less pleasant, is namely, "bleeding pockets."

Many, many changes in the healing art have taken place since I first commenced the practice. There have been two complete revolutions in the practice since the early days. We used to starve fevers where we now feed them. The days of the old saddlebag, the lance, the blood-letting, the cupping, the blistering, the medical profession of today is more concerned in tracing how to treat disease than how to cure it. The Ohio Fuel Supply company has completed the installation of one of its large pumps at the station near Homer. Another pump is ready for operation. With these pumps it is impossible to have a low pressure of gas. The lines of the company reach Cincinnati, a part of which is supplied with natural gas. Out of 72,000 consumers at the recent cold period only 34 complaints were registered.

Help Your Town.

A town that never has anything in a public way, is on the way to the cemetery. Any citizen who will do nothing for his own town is helping dig the grave. A man that curses the town furnishes the coffin. The man who is so selfish as to have no time from his business to give city affairs is making the shroud. The man who will not advertise is driving the hearse. The man who is always pulling back from any public enterprise throws bouquets on the grave. The man who is so stingy as to be howling constantly hard times, preaches the funeral.

Hard on Mail Carriers.

The mail carriers are having it a little easier this week. For nearly a week the icy road and sidewalks made the delivery of mail a difficult proposition. The long continued muscular tension, incidental to walking at a good speed and carrying a load of mail must be experienced to be fully appreciated. Despite the icy season, the mail men do not complain along as early as usual don't em, harass him by telling him "You're late today." The statement becomes monotonous when repeated, and he is keenly aware of the fact when he is late.

Model Arcade Building.

Welant, all men well known in Columbus, will give Newark a modern arcade building, construction on which will begin in the early spring. Howell & Thomas, the architects in the Columbus Savings and Trust building, are drawing the plans, which will provide for an arcade 60 by 400 feet. It will be of pressed brick with stone trimmings, and will have wire glass roof. It

It will cost close to $100,000 and will be the most pretentious structure of its kind in any city near the size of Newark.—State Journal.

1763—The French and Indian war ended by treaty at Paris. Decisive events were the taking of Louisburg, the fall of Ticonderoga and the capture of Que-

the treaty Canada and its dependen-

War is now on between Roosevelt and the Republican leaders who oppose Taft, and a high up Federal official has been assigned to duty in the Taft campaign, so that it can be managed direct from the White House.

The Republican breach in the ranks of the G. O. P. of Ohio seems to be getting wide enough to make future trouble. Two Republican candidates for the presidency would make the campaign really interesting.

There will be more contesting delegations in the coming Republican national convention than ever before and the swearing trains necessary
after the convention is over will tax
the capacity of the railroads.

More fraud claimed in the government printing office, and this is supposed to be a reform administration.

The revenue of the government fell off during January nearly $6,000,- 000. If such Republican prosperity keeps up the same pace, there will be a deficiency of about $40,000,000 the end of the financial year on June 30.

The tariff on paper and wood pulp is declared by John Sharp Williams to be a "brain tax" and the Republicans
were unable to refute that proposition.

The Republican full dinner pail is obliged to be filled with free soup in many instances.

WAR ON TAFT

elect contesting delegates to the national convention. Should Secretary Taft control the delegates from all of the states of the Mississippi river and the Solid South he would be nominated on the first ballot.
The reactionaries and the money power in Wall street, however, have realized this from the start, and have been planning to elect contesting delegates from a dozen or fifteen states.
They control the National committee,
as shown at its last meeting when the Administration forces were routed in selecting a convention city, and it is their plan to have the anti-Taft delegates put upon the temporary roll of the convention.

Under the rules for Republican National conventions the temporary delegates vote on contests from every state except the one in which they are directly interested, and under this rule Senator Crane believes he will be able to unseat every Taft delegation from the South.

It has become known that the Florida row was planned and carried out by Representative Butler Ames.
of Massachusetts. He is one of the wealthiest men in congress, and owns a large estate in Florida. He went to his winter place last week and fixed up the scheme by which a minority of the delegates bolted and elected anti-Taft delegates. It was Representative Ames who sent the telegrams which were received by representatives of Cannon, Fairbanks, Knox and Hughes on Thursday.

This plan is to be followed in North and South Carolina, Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana and other Southern States. In most of these states the President has the rank and file of the party back of him, and the organization leaders are, of course, Federal officeholders. At the same time the Republican vote is made up largely of negroes, and the Anti-Administration Republicans believe they will have no trouble in starting rival machines by getting hold of men who have been disappointed in obtaining appointments and controlling them with promises of patronage if the movement is a success.

The next convention is to be held in Texas. There was no doubt that Secretary Taft would get the 36 delegates without a contest, and that they would be instructed for him. Information received by Secretary Taft's managers, however, indicated that Senator Crane had agents at work here, and had already planned to have a percentage of the delegates bolt and elect a contesting delegation.

The President has awakened to the situation and his friends are awaiting his next move. They realize that the Administration is at a serious disad-vantage, since the reactionaries are bound to raise the cry of Federal patronage.

The reactionaries admit that the Taft forces will have a majority of delegates in all of the Southern conventions, but insist that these are office-holders who fear to oppose the wishes of the Administration. They declare further that Republicans who do not hold office favor their plan of electing uninstructed delegates, and that their wishes should be regarded as the will of the organization because they are not under the influence of the President.

Both the Administration leaders and the reactionaries believe that the whole issue of the Chicago convention hinges on this fight for control of the South. If the President wins, Taft is sure of the nomination. Should Senator Crane's plans materialize he will be able with the delegates of the states having favorite sons to prevent Secretary Taft's nomination on the first ballot, and might be able to defeat him in the end. Senator Crane is ambitious. He desires to become the Mark Hanna of the next Administration, and is playing for a stake which he believes to be worth the work and energy he is putting into it.

INVITE COMMITTEE
TO VISIT NEWARK

Regarding the action of the Board of Trade as to the proposed abandonment of a certain portion of the Ohio canal in this city, Mr. J. M. Mayhew, the secretary of the Board, wrote a letter to Representative R. W. Howard to be presented to the committee on public works, inviting them to come over to Newark and inspect the site of the proposed abandonment.

The legislature having adjourned on account of the Republican primaries which are to be held on Tuesday, the matter cannot be taken up before Wednesday. Representative Howard is of the opinion that the committee will visit Newark immediately.

Ready to Don Overalls.
At the recent dinner given to ex-Register, Alfred J. Boulton (Stereotypers' union, No. 1) by the Brooklyn league
the register said: "I look back with the greatest satisfaction to the days when I felled timber amid the snows of the far west or here in New York worked, stripped to the waist, in the stereotype
foundries of the great newspapers.
Two years ago my fellow citizens called me to be their servant as register of Kings county, and I have done my best to prove that their confidence was not misplaced. Now that my term of office is about to expire I am ready and eager to again don the overalls and join my big hearted, grumpy faced brothers in the stereotype foundry."

Carpenters Growing.
The Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners has gained 141 new unions, and 29,631 more members are now on the books in good standing than was the case one year ago. The total membership in good standing on the books
at the international office is 190,823, which means that the brotherhood has actually more than 250,000 members.

FAVOR LABOR LAWS.

Contract Does Not Always Protect
the Worker, Say Economists.

At a joint session of the American Economic Association and the American Association For Labor Legislation held recently at Madison, Wis., the president of the latter organization, Dr.
Richard T. Ely of the University of Wisconsin, spoke on "Economic Theory and Labor Legislation," saying in part:

"An examination of modern theories of population and wages reveals the existence of no doctrine which in itself is antagonistic to labor legislation in itself, and as a matter of fact it would be difficult to find such antagonism among the leading economists of the world today.

"The economic grounds for labor legislation are revealed best when the subject is approached from the viewpoint of contract or the economic bargain consideration, particularly in its legal aspect with respect to underlying economic causes.

"Contracts are static, not dynamic.
Through contract the actually existing economic forces manifest themselves with all their inequalities and injustices.

"Until recently economists were inclined to limit regulation of labor conditions and especially hours of toil to children, young persons and women, leaving adult men 'free' to make their own contracts, but experience has shown that, while the adult males as a rule are in a far better position in the labor contract than the other classes mentioned, unregulated contract does not always conduce to freedom and fair opportunity, but frequently means bondage and degradation. We must not take the view of the state as external stepping in and interfering with the liberty. Its action is rather the result of the co-operative efforts of men to determine the conditions of toil and enlarge the sphere of economic action.

"Science can draw no arbitrary line between labor legislation for adults and labor legislation for women and children. Cases must be judged as they arise on their merits. Efficiency must be an ever present test."

A STRIKE TWICE WON

Notes From the Diary of a Labor
Agitator.

FIGHT ON GREAT NORTHERN.

How the Union's Representative Got the Wheels of Industry Turning.
General Manager For a Night—Jim Hill and American Railway Union.

For just one night I was general manager of a great railroad, though I never received any salary for the service I rendered in that capacity, writes Eugene V. Debs in the Saturday Spectator.

The strike on the Great Northern,
extending from St. Paul to the coast,
was settled on the evening of May 1, 1894. It was a complete victory for the A. R. U.

President James J. Hill and I had shaken hands and declared the hatchet buried. He said he was glad it was over and assured me that he had no feeling of resentment. As we stood chatting in his office he said:

"By the way, Debs, you'll have to be my general manager tonight, for the men won't go to work except upon your orders."

I said, "All right, sir; I'll guarantee that by morning the trains will all be running on schedule time."

He seemed to be nettled, and I did not blame him when he said:

"How about my wages? I, too, am an employee of the Great Northern railway. And since everybody gets a raise, where do I come in?"

He laughed heartily when I answered, "Join the American Railway union and we'll see that you get a square deal."

And then I assumed the duties of general manager. The men all along the line were extremely suspicious.
They had been betrayed before and were taking no chances. The chief operator sat at the keys while I dictated the orders. The messages were soon speeding over the wires. At some places there was no trouble. At others it was not easy to convince the men that there was no trickery about it and that the orders bearing my signature were genuine.

When I left the Great Northern headquarters all the trains were moving,
the shops, yards and offices were throbbing with activity and everybody was happy.

It was not long after this before President Hill and some of our members wired me as to my interpretation of certain clauses of the agreement. It was evident that trouble was brewing again. I went to St. Paul on the first train. Our committee was promptly convened, but Mr. Hill could not be found. No one knew where he was.
It struck me that delay was dangerous
and that prompt action was necessary.
We at once summoned Charles A. Pillsbury, the millionaire miller, since deceased, and a personal friend of Mr.
Hill, who had taken an active interest in the previous strike and settlement.
Mr. Pillsbury and some of his associates came to the hall.

Pillsbury said if the agreement had been violated he did not know it. He did not know where Mr. Hill was and suggested that we wait patiently until he returned. He hoped we would not be rash and that there would be no trouble. When he took his seat I got up. "Mr. Pillsbury," said I, "if Mr.
Hill is not here or if there is not some one here to act for him within thirty minutes we will tie up the Great Northern from end to end." The hall rang with applause. Within fifteen minutes President Hill was in the hall.
We went into a back room, and in about thirty minutes more everything was adjusted and for the second time
the victory of the A. R. U. was complete.

In the fall of 1896 I addressed a great political gathering at Duluth, Minn.
The trades union banners were for the first time in a political procession. It was a red letter day. The crowd was immense. No hall was large enough, and it was too chilly for outdoors. Arrangements were made to hold the meeting in the old street car stables.
The roof was low and there was ample room, and this was what we needed.
Just after I got started some man interrupted. Not understanding what he said, I paused and asked him to repeat his remark. "I said you're all right!"
he exclaimed. Within a few feet of him towered a fellow who seemed seven feet tall. His eyes blazed daggers at the first party as he growled, "By heavens, you'd better!" The crowd cheered, and there was no further interruption that night.

An introduction I once received is good for a hearty laugh every time I recall the incident. There was intense prejudice against me, and the young man who had been selected to introduce me to the audience concluded he would try to disarm it. The house was jammed. This was his first experience.
He got along quite well till he forgot his lines. And then he closed somewhat abruptly after this fashion:
"Debs is hated by some people because he has been in strikes. This is not right. It is the law of nature to defend yourself. Only a coward will refuse to stand up for his rights. Why, even a dog will growl if you try to derive him of the bone he is gnawing, a cat will scratch in self defense, a bee will sting to protect itself, a goat will butt if you get in his way, and you all know what a jackass will do if you monkey with him. Ladies and gentlemen, this is Debs, who will now address you."

He brought down the house and was immensely pleased with his first effort
on the public platform.

THE LABOR EDITOR.
Used to Knocks, but He Appreciates a Word of Praise.
There is a peculiar twist in the human mind which leads it to believe that a thing is so because it is in print.
The fact that a newspaper has said
thus and so is to most folks sufficient evidence that it is true. 'We need not stop to analyze this curious psychological delusion.
To some editors this fact is a source of congratulation. But the true "mold-er of public opinion" seeks to arouse the thinking machinery of his constituency. He is really an educator. He is one of the most important factors in the development of the human race.
But he is not infallible. He will be the first to admit it. He is tempted in all points as we are, and he is not without sin.
My observation of the labor editors of this country has led me to have for them the greatest respect. Many of them are engaged in a most difficult task. Often the support which is given them is insufficient to permit them to do their best work in behalf of labor. They should receive the most cordial co-operation of the rank and file as well as that of the leaders.
They are really very human. They are glad to receive helpful suggestions.
They expect the "knocks" and they are not disappointed. But there are other ways of boosting the labor press.
The editor appreciates it when he is told that he has said or done a good thing through his paper. Tell him about it.
As a rule, he needs the money. He eats the same kind of food that the rest of us eat—when he can get it.
Some of us have apparently concluded that he lives on ink. But even ink costs money. And the market price is advancing. He wears the same kind of clothes, he lives in the same kind of a house, and he deals with the same kind of a landlord.
Just for the fun of it, let's give him
a boost—in just the way that you know best.—Rev. Charles Steidle.

WATCHMAN TERRIBLY BURNED.

Marietta, Feb. 10.—Tired out by his long vigil as watchman of a steamboat anchored in the local harbor, J. F. Haskins fell asleep while sitting in front of a fire yesterday and was burned in a horrible manner. Awakened by the flames about him, he jumped into the river and nearly drowned before assistance arrived.

The man who says he never told a lie probably thinks he might just as well tell another one as not.

The worst thing about losing your temper is that you can't see it all the time again.

WANTED

Every Person in Newark to Know What Vinol is and How It is Made.

For some time we have recommended Vinol to the people of Newark as the best cod liver preparation and tonic reconstructer we have ever sold.

To prove the reliability and genuineness of this successful remedy and that it is in no sense a patent medicine, the people of Newark will find on every package of Vinol not only a statement of the ingredients Vinol contains, but an illustration in colors showing just how Vinol is made from fresh cods' livers and peptonate of iron, which is a useful constituent for the blood.

This proves in a very convincing manner to the people of Newark, O., the origin from which Vinol derives its wonderful curative power, and that it is a real cod liver preparation made by a scientific process which eliminates the useless oil and retains all the active medicinal principles.

As a body builder and strength creator for old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, after sickness, and for chronic coughs, colds, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles, Vinol is unexcelled.

Try it on our offer to return your money if it fails. Frank D. Hall, druggist, Newark, O.

A LESSON IN GERMAN.

Follow It Closely and You Will See How Really Simple It Is.

Among the Hottentots (Hottentot in German) the kangaroos (Beutelratte) are found in great numbers. Many of them wander over the country free and unmolested; others, less fortunate, are taken by hunters and put into cages (Kotter) provided with covers (Lattengitter) to keep out the rain. These cages are called in German Lattengitterkottter, and the kangaroo after his imprisonment takes the name of Lattengitterkottterbeutelratte. One day an assassin (Attentäter) was arrested who had killed a Hottentot woman, Hottentotmutter, the mother of two stupid and stuttering children in Straetertrottel. This woman in the German language is entitled Hottentotenstraetertrottelmutter, and her assassin takes the name Hottentotenstraetertrottelmutter. The murderer was confined in a kangaroo's cage — BeutelratteLattengitterkottterkottter—when a few days later he escaped, but fortunately he was recaptured by a Hottentot, who presented himself at the mayor's office with beaming face.

"I have captured the Attentäter," said he.

"Which one?" replied the mayor.

"We have several."

"The AttentäterLattengitterkottterkottterbeutelratte."

"Which Attentäter are you talking about?"

"About the HottentotenstraetertrottelmutterAttentäter."

"Then why don't you say at once the HottentotenstraetertrottelmutterLattengitterkottterkottterbeutelratte?"

The Hottentot fled in dismay.

THE AWKWARD "MRS."

Single as Well as Married Women Once Carried This Title.

A curiously awkward word, if it be a word, is "Mrs." It is not spelled as it is pronounced—no one but a Welshman or a Pole would be equal to pronouncing it as it is spelled—and its pronunciation is a clumsy contraction of the good old English designation "mistress."

In the days of old, when leisure had not become, as it is now, almost a forgotten luxury and people were less anxious to clip their speech, the full pronunciation was often used, and "mistress" was not altogether elbowed out of existence by the vulgar "miss."

But nowadays "mistress" has dropped out, and consequently the contracted pronunciation of "Mrs." has prevailed and holds the field.

Another point worth noting in the history of the designation is that about 150 years ago and earlier "Mrs." was applied quite impartially to unmarried as well as married ladies. Even children were sometimes styled "Mrs."

The burial of an infant daughter of John Milton, who died at the age of five months, is recorded in the parish register of St. Margaret, Westminster, and her name is entered as "Mrs. Katherine Milton," followed by a small "c" to indicate that a child is meant. But this may be regarded as an exceptional use of the title.—St. James' Gazette.

A Sabbatarian Dog.

"Tip was an Irish setter—his name was really Tipperary and Tip for short," said a New York clubman. "He knew when it was Sunday, and he kept the day. He was the only Sabbatarian dog I ever knew. He used to sleep on a rug in my room. I had to keep early hours in those days, and every morning at 7 o'clock Tip would put his cold nose against my face and remind me that it was time to go to work. Then while I was dressing he would go to the village postoffice and bring home the mail. On Sunday morning he never stirred off his rug until I was good and ready to get up, which was usually quite late, and nothing could induce him to go to the postoffice on that day. And the best part of the story is it is absolutely true."—New York Tribune.

No Plot.

The actor, rounded up in Russia with a bunch of others, retained his composure while his companions in misfortune were giving way to despair. "I can prove my innocence of complicity in any conspiracy to the complete satisfaction of the authorities," he said.

"How can you do that?" one of his companions asked. "You will always be suspected of being connected with a plot."

He smiled confidently. "Not when I tell them that for years I have been playing in musical comedies."—Baltimore American.

Golfing Sarcasm.

"Caddy, how many strokes is that for this hole?" asked the golfer with the plaid cap.

"I can't say, sir."

"Can't say?"

"No, sir; I can only count up to twelve, sir."—Pick-Me-Up.

Self Reliance.

It is easy in this world to live after the world's opinion. It is easy in solitude to live after our own, but the great man is he who in the midst of the crowds keeps with perfect sweetness the independence of solitude.—Emerson.

Ready For Business.

A tragedian playing Richard III. in a small town was waited on after the show by an honest farmer, who said that "if the gent'm who wanted a horse was still of the same mind he would like to do business with him."

No better masters than poverty and want.—Dutch Proverb.

The Only Food

The only wheat food that is perfectly cooked—a pretty strong claim, is it not?

Steam-cooked for six hours—then thoroughly cured—then baked at 400 degrees.

It requires 96 hours to turn wheat into Mapl-Flake. Yet flaked food can be made in from 18 to 20 hours. Let us tell you what a difference that makes in the food.

Wheat is composed largely of starch.

Starch, to be digestible, must be made soluble. The particles must be separated, so the digestive juices can get to them.

You cannot digest raw starch.

The only way to break up the granules of starch is to apply a fierce heat, and for long. That is why wheat is flaked—to get it so thin that the heat goes through.

In baking bread, the inside of the loaf never gets heat enough. That is why bread doesn't all digest. That is why more will digest when it's toasted.

The more starch you break up by heat, the more food you will get. But no form of wheat food—save Mapl-Flake—is so cooked that all of the wheat becomes digestible.

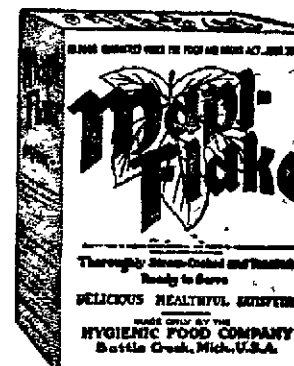

Mapl-Flake alone is all food.

That is why Mapl-Flake is the most economical food. It is all nourishment.

But that isn't all. When only half of a food digests the other half ferments and breeds germs. It always causes, in some degree, symptoms of indigestion. Dyspeptic symptoms are usually due to the failure of starch to digest.

Mapl-Flake is cooked with pure maple syrup. That's for the children, mainly—to make them like the food that is best for them.

The Advocate's Evening Story

WHEN GEMS WERE PRECIOUS.

[Original.]
"Mother, Carl says you told him a pretty story about some jewels you lost when you were a young lady. Won't you tell it to me?"

"If you'll promise not to repeat it," the Countess of Blumenstein took her little daughter on her lap and told the story.

"Twenty years ago," she said, "when jewels were very expensive, they were much valued by those who could afford to own them. It was, I think, in the year 1905 that a young lady of the nobility whom we will call Bertha was appointed one of the ladies in waiting to the empress. Her majesty possessed one of the rarest collections of gems in Europe, and Bertha was made responsible for them. There was a young man at court whom we will call Maximilian. He was of royal blood through his mother, but not through his father.

"Now, Maximilian took very little interest in court matters. He was a student, always experimenting with liquids that he poured into little glass tubes and boiled and froze and did all sorts of queer things with. It was about this time that a new and funny substance was discovered called radium. It had a sort of glow that never died out. Maximilian took great interest in radium and was constantly trying its glow on different other substances.

"One day Bertha—it was about two years after she had been appointed lady in waiting—went to the vault where the empress's jewels were kept, and, lo and behold, they were gone—that is, all except the diamonds, which were in a safe within the vault. She fainted, but soon recovered and went out, locked the vault and sat down to think what she should do. It was enough that the jewels had been taken while under her care, but would she not be held responsible as the thief? While she was in agony as to what in the world she should do Maximilian was announced. In a few minutes she was pouring her troubles into his ear.

"Maximilian thought for a long while then told her to say nothing about the theft. All would depend upon the empress not calling for her lost gems for some time. Photographs of them were kept that they might be identified in case of loss. Maximilian took these photographs and told Bertha that he was going to put the best detective in Berlin on the track of the jewels. What are detectives? There are no such persons now. There used to be, but there were so many ingenious detective story-tellers that they revealed to the thieves all possible ways of tracing them, and the detectives ceased to be of use.

"Well, Maximilian took two sets of photographs away with him, telling Bertha that if the gems were not called for for a month all would be well.

PREDICTS THAT ZANESVILLE WILL HAVE SEASICKNESS

Owing to peculiar conditions in getting a team together the salary limit in the Central league, $1,800, will not apply to Zanesville this year. The Zanesville salary list will run up to about $2,200 the first year in Central league company. There will be a lot of sick baseball enthusiasts in Zanesville in September. It will be found that a berth in the Central league will be expensive sport.—Ohio Sun.

PRESIDENT QUINN RENTS QUARTERS

President Quinn will decide definitely in a few days whether the Ohio State is to be a six or an eight club league. He is making preparations for the opening of the season and has begun the signing of umpires by securing Ed. Handiboe of Washington, D. C. He will move slow in this matter as it is his intention to sign none but first class men. President Quinn Saturday rented quarters in the Harrison building at Columbus, securing room 209 on the second floor. He will be a busy man from now on until the opening of the season on April 23.

Of course there will be some exhibition games before the opening of the season and the players for the Molders will begin to report about April 1. Manager Berryhill advises that he will secure an early start to get the new youngsters in good condition for the opening.

It happened that the empress was indisposed about that time and attended no state occasions, so she did not need her jewels. Bertha was in an agony of suspense for the thirty days; then one day Maximilian came to see her. When they were alone he unrolled a parcel, and there were the gems.

"Of course she was wild to know how he had recovered them, and to her astonishment he told her that they were not the original gems, but others he had manufactured. I will try and explain to you how he did it. He had noticed that that funny substance called radium imparted to the little glass tubes he used a beautiful blue. This led him to a new experiment. He took certain crystals of different hues, put them away in the dark and when, after several weeks, he looked at them, what do you think? Why, the white crystals had become yellow topazes, the blue crystals green emeralds, while the violet crystals had turned into blue sapphires. He had made the discovery that has since led to the manufacture of what used to be called precious stones. To reproduce the gems shown in the photographs he had crystals cut like the originals, then exposed them to the influence of radium.

"It wasn't a week after this that one of the multimillionaires of America came to Berlin. At the same time came a princeling, a cousin of the emperor. A state dinner was given, the emperor pretending that it was for the princeling, but it was really for the big American banker. The empress called for all her jewels. Bertha brought them to her, and neither she nor any one else knew that they had been manufactured. The funny part of it was that the great banker, who was a collector of all kinds of rare articles, through a medium, offered the empress five times the cost of her jewels. She sold them to him, and he presented them to an American museum. They are really a curiosity, though he didn't know it, for they were the first manufactured real gems, though now there are millions of them. And because they are cheap people don't wear them any more.

"Meanwhile Bertha suspected one of the maids of honor of stealing the lost gems. The girl finally confessed to Bertha and returned them. This was after the manufactured ones had gone to America. Bertha consulted with Maximilian as to what they should do. He said their return would make a dreadful scandal and might create a bad feeling between Germany and America, so they said nothing about them, but buried them."

"And what became of Maximilian and Bertha?" asked the child.

"They are now the Count and Countess of Blumenstein."

"Why, that's papa and you."

"Sh, my child. Never speak of it to any one. I have been very incautious to tell you the story."

WALTER MILLER, GREATEST RACE HORSE DRIVER IN THE WORLD TO RETIRE.

Walter Miller

made by C. C. Cook

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 10.—Walter Miller, the premier rider of the world, at present riding at Santa Anita, declares that the present is the last year that he will ride in this country.

"I feel," said Miller, "that I will have entitled myself to a little rest and enjoyment after this season and the best talent available for his umpire staff. He has received a large number of applications. Most of them apply not so much on the theory that they know anything about the game, but that they need the money. Bobby is not picking that class.

Ed. Handiboe was a former Newark ball tosser and used to pitch at Idle Hour park in the East End about twenty years ago. He resided in this city for a number of years and was a brother of Nick and Jack. All of them were good ball players and Jack was also a good pitcher. Nick was a catcher and he and Ed. joined the Columbus team of the old American association. When Nick was out of condition Jack would take care of his work behind the bat. In several double headers he has pitched the first game and caught the second. The many friends of Mr. Handiboe will be pleased to meet him here this season when he makes his appearance on the diamond handling the indicator.

LEACH WILL PLAY IN PITTSBURG

Pittsburg, Feb. 10.—Reports that Brooklyn offered $5,000 for Tommy Leach are denied by President Dreyfuss, who said:

"No offer for Leach would be considered. He will play with the Pittsburg club next season or else play in his billiard room in Cleveland. We have made Tommy a good offer; it's up to him to accept or decline."

Question of Nationality.
An Englishman, a Frenchman and a German sitting together in the smoking room of an ocean liner, the conversation turned on their nationality, and one of them asked what each of the three would choose to be if he were not of his own nation. The Frenchman said, "If I were not a Frenchman, I would be an Englishman." The Englishman said, "If I were not an Englishman, I would wish to be one." The German, "If I were not a German I would wish not to be a German." Carl Peters in Deutsche Monatschrift.

POLICE COURT

Not a Drunk Appeared Before Mayor
Atherton This Morning—Service Cases Heard.

While police court lasted a little longer Monday morning than it has for several weeks, there were no cases of any great interest up for hearing. Not a drunk was registered Sunday and none were on the streets.

The first case called was that of Fred Smith, a young fellow who was arrested Saturday night by Officers Shively and Abbott on complaint of Lucy Thompson and Ella Wilson, 377 Washington street. According to the testimony Smith and four other young men made a visit to the home of the women and became noisy. About 11:30 o'clock they again returned and broke the windows and the glass in the doors. Then they went to a saloon nearby where Smith was pointed out by the women as being one of the crowd. He pleaded not guilty and was released on $100 bond and his case continued until 1 o'clock this afternoon.

John Garry was arrested Sunday morning by Chief Zergiebel and Officer Brown, on a warrant sworn to by Mrs. Emma Peck, who runs the Commercial hotel on South Fifth street. He is charged with using threatening and profane language because his wages were attached because he would not pay his board. He says his board had been paid regularly and the attaching of his wages has cost him his job. His case was continued until 2 o'clock today as he wanted to call several witnesses.

Joseph King, a glass worker from Hartford City, Ind., was arrested at the B. & O. depot Sunday noon by Officer Brown as he was about to take an east bound train. He was wanted by the Utica authorities and a telephone call from the marshal of that village told the police to arrest him and hold until an officer from that place could arrive. He was locked up and the marshal arriving, he was returned to Utica on the early morning train.

DESERTER

Arrested by Turner Swank and Will Be Held Until Word Is Received from Authorities.

James E. Troyer, a deserter from the United States Marine Corps and stationed at Washington, D. C., was arrested by Officer Swank Sunday, and the authorities notified. Troyer applied at the city prison make this weight.

"I do not expect to be rider all my life," continued the jockey. "I have been hard at work for the last five years and have made a success of my calling, and would much prefer to retire before my usefulness is gone. In this way I will leave the saddle carrying with me the respect and good will of the racing public."

Friday night for lodging and Saturday night he again returned and said he was unable to find work and wanted a place to sleep for the night. This performance he again repeated, and this time it proved his undoing.

He had been wearing a suit of overalls and jumper, but the turnkey noticed a blue suit underneath that had all the appearance of an army uniform. He quizzed the man, who finally acknowledged he deserted from the marine corps January 6.

He enlisted, according to his own story, at Springfield, Ill., last October, but life in the marine corps failed to interest him, so he skipped out. The military authorities at Washington have been notified of the arrest of the man, who will be held until word is received as to the disposal of his case.

BOWLING CONGRESS OPENED SATURDAY

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 10.—The eighth annual tournament of the American Bowling Congress was inaugurated Saturday night at the Fifth regiment armory, where an immense throng of pin knights gathered to witness the initial events of the tourney that will be an almost continuous session for two weeks. At the exercises before the initial contest the welcome of the city was extended by John Galvin, vice mayor, in a brief address, and was responded to by August Herrmann, president of the congress. A place club rendered vocal selections and a military band furnished music throughout the evening. The first balls tilted over the new drives were sent down the alleys by President Herrmann,

How to Entertain Guests.

For an evening's entertainment take the names of some drugs or medicines, such as peppermint, chloroform or laudanum. Write each name on a slip of paper and cut between the letters; then wrap in white paper, powder fashion, each word forming a powder. Give one to each guest, together with paper and pencil, requesting them to write an article on the inclosed medicine, its uses and abuses. Appoint a judge to read the essays and pronounce judgment, the best to receive a prize. Of course the funnier they are the better. In one case peppermint was warranted to cure all aches, from headache to heartache.

How to Wash Chamiee.
Every one does not know the secret of washing chamiee skin so as to make it as good as new. Wet the chamiee in a weak solution of washing soda and water, rubbing plenty of white soap into it. Let it lie for two hours, then rub between the hands until clean. Rinse in a weak solution of soda and water with a little soap shaken in. If rinsed in pure water, it becomes hard. It is the small particles of soap that give it silky softness. Writing in a dry towel and dry quickly, mulling and brushing well.

Big Money for Employes.
The Pullman Car Company has distributed $300,000 among nearly 4000 of its employes as a reward for their faithfulness to the company and politeness to the traveling public. Are the patrons to understand that this takes the place of the tips that have been expected and almost invariably handed out, on the supposition that they were necessary to insure the traveller all the comforts of a Pullman car journey?

Good Showing.
Railroad men are pointing out the fact that from a stock market point of view, the roads are making a fine showing at present, notwithstanding the lack of business just now through the prevailing dull times. The showing this month will probably be about as good as the corresponding month last year, since business was practically suspended on many of the far Western railroads, during the greater part of January, a year ago on account of snow blockades and storms and floods in other parts of the country at that time reduced earnings considerably.

Goes With E. J. Correll.
Waiter Cook, the inspector of the B. & O. S. W. at Chillicothe, has just received a most flattering offer of a position as roadmaster of the Missouri Pacific. The offer came to Mr. Cook through E. J. Correll, until recently engineer of this division of the B. & O. S. W., and who now is engineer of maintenance of way on the southern division of the Missouri Pacific road. He has known Cook for a number of years and appreciated his worth as a good road man. As the position pays $50 to $75 more money per month than Mr. Cook receives at present, he is seriously thinking of accepting the opportunity for advancement.

ENGLISH JUSTICE.
Hard on Petty Thieves and Light on Wife Beaters.

It is only about a century since the death penalty was inflicted in England for theft not exceeding the value of a sheep. Now some of the London journals are making a merciless exposure of magistrates throughout the kingdom who keep up the tradition by sentencing petty thieves to jail while inflicting only trifling fines upon wife beaters and even more brutal offenders.

To one police court one defendant was fined 10s. 6d. for knocking his wife down in the street because she refused to give him money for drink, and another was sentenced to sixty days' imprisonment for damaging growing potatoes and stealing two footballs.

For cruelty to a horse, beating his wife, who was ill, with fist and hammer and leaving her with nothing to eat one man was fined 10 shillings, while another, charged with stealing a pair of socks valued at sixpence, got fourteen days' hard labor. It would not be difficult to make up a list of similar cases from American police courts, yet the tendency in America is rather toward a higher estimate of the value of human life—Van Norden Magazine.

JOHN KELLY

KNOWN TO HUNDREDS AS "ELEPHANT" KELLY DIES IN A COLUMBUS HOSPITAL.

Was a Unique Character and Had Traveled Extensively With Several Big Circuses.

Johnny "Elephant" Kelly is dead. This announcement will be received with surprise by hundreds of people who knew him. Johnny Kelly was a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kelly, former well known citizens of Newark, but both of whom have been dead for a number of years. Johnny was a most unique character, and for the past twenty-five years had been engaged in the business of elephant trainer for all the big shows in the country, and had visited every section of the United States during that time, besides having visited many foreign lands. He was one of the best elephant men in the business and always made friends with the animals, who came to love their master. It is said that after he had parted from one particular elephant he met him many years afterwards and called him by name when the animal nearly broke his chain, so great was his joy at meeting his master again.

About eight months ago Johnny was compelled to give up the show business and come to Newark, where he had a brother, "Dunce" Kelly, living. His condition finally became so that he was sent to the County Infirmary and about two months ago William Bergen took him from that institution and made arrangements for his admittance to the St. Francis Hospital at Columbus, and he was taken over to that institution by "Ted" O'Neil, where everything possible was done for him, but he passed away on Friday, death being due to consumption. The body will be brought to Newark Monday afternoon in all probability, by Undertaker McGonagle, and the interment will be made in Mt. Calvary cemetery.

HOME FOUND

For a quarter of a century we have been engaged in making and selling shoes, and have made the shoe business our undivided study. It has ever been our aim to give our patrons the best value possible that of goods bought at lowest cash price and sold at the smallest margin of profit expenses would permit, and confidently believe that but few of our patrons have been disappointed at service rendered by our goods. Present quarters having been leased over our heads we have secured a home at 48 Hudson avenue, one square direct north, a much better room with vastly superior sanitary conditions at a greatly reduced rent, thus enabling us to sell goods at a smaller profit than ever. C. building yard, will be launched on March 4, and be named the Yolanda. She is the third largest privately owned yacht in the world. It is a six-cylinder motor, stroke equal to a 320-horse power. Steam will be applied to two cylinders and two of the triple boilers. No other cylinders are in the boiler room. GRANVILLE Granville, Feb. 10.—Saturday evening the members of Beta Theta Pi fraternity delightfully entertained their friends with a delightful sleigh ride. Two sled loads of merry young people left the village at five o'clock, and a most delightful time was had by those who enjoyed the hospitality of the Betas.

Many special messages were sent to the plumbers of the village during the past week, requiring their early attention at sundry residences and institutions where the heating and sanitary outfits had received "frosts."

Miss Carrie Williams of Columbus, spent Sunday with Granville friends. Miss Marie Bunn of Mt. Vernon, is the guest of Miss Dorothy Swartz.

After a short though pleasant visit with friends in the village, Miss Halie Davis has returned to her home in Bucyrus.

Saturday evening a merry crowd of young people enjoyed a sleigh ride about the village, after which they drove to the country home of Miss Mary Hughes, in the country, where a bounteous oyster supper was partaken of.

Said a prominent fruit grower to the reporter: "This month will be the trying month for fruit. It is now in good shape and if February passes without any sudden change the crops this year will surpass those of last year. Last year it will be remembered, that the excessive freezes following the warm days in February and March played havoc with the fruit, but the steady cold that we are now having indicates a desirable spring."

Notwithstanding the icy condition of the streets, Granville citizens, so far as reported, have avoided fractures to their bone structures.

Rev. C. J. Baldwin, pastor of the Baptist church, who has been confined to his home for some days in account of sickness, is considerably improved, and occupied his pulpit Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Owens of Columbus spent Sunday in the village.

The number of horses standing unblanketed on the streets of our town this winter has been very noticeable, and has occasioned a good deal of comment. The mild winter days prevailing may in a degree account for this forgetfulness, but no winter weather in our climate is so mild as to make it unnecessary to protect a horse that has been driven, from the cold. Don't forget the poor, dumb creatures, that have nothing to hope for but hard work and often abused all their lives. Think how dependent we are upon them and endeavor to ameliorate their sufferings as far as possible.

Miss Emily Farar of Toledo, is visiting her sister, Miss Fannie, of the Conservatory.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cole of Urbana, who has been visiting friends and relatives here for the past week, returned home Monday.

Charles Kibler was Max Norpell's guest Sunday.

who suffer from sleeplessness, backache, or pain will find relief by taking Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. They are quick in action, relieving headache in a few minutes, while nearly every other form of pain yields to their soothing influence. A great many women have found that a few carried with them, insures immunity from suffering.

"I am one who has suffered for 13 years every month. For several years I took doctors' medicine, until I gave up to suffer until death. One day when I was in great pain, Mr. Sales, for whom I was working, gave me a box of Anti-Pain Pills. At first I refused them but he insisted on my giving them a trial, and I must say they are the only thing that I ever took that relieved me without putting me to sleep. Last August I began to use them and to-day I am willing to say that I am cured as I had only one pill this month. I recommend them to women who suffer, and believe they can live without pain if they will take Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills."

DID LEE EXPECT DEFEAT?

The General's Significant Statement After Sailors' Creek.

My last official intercourse with General Lee was on the retreat. I was sent to him with dispatches from President Davis and reached him near midnight of April 6 near Rice's station. I approached without being challenged by a single sentinel and found him standing near a smoldering fire with one of his hands resting on an ambulance wheel. He was dictating some order to Colonel Marshall, who sat in the ambulance with a lap desk receiving his dictation. As General Lee spoke he gazed into the bed of coals as if warming every word. There was no staff or escort about, so far as I could see. Touching Sailors' Creek, he spoke bitterly and said in answer to Mr. Davis' desire to know his proposed line of retreat that it was beyond his control; that he had intended to retreat to the line of the Pamunkey road, but had been forced off that route by the arrival of Sheridan ahead of him at Burkville; that he was then following the line of the Southside road to Lynchburg, but the enemy was out-marching him and might force him off; that his movements were dependent on the developments of each hour, and then he added: "How can I tell? A few more Sailors' Creeks and it will all be over—just where I thought it would end from the beginning." When I first published this statement its truthfulness was questioned. Fortunately I afterward saw two of his staff, both of whom said they had heard him express himself in the same way. There may have been times when General Lee, elated by some of his surprising successes, felt hopeful about the triumph of his cause. From the probabilities based on numbers and resources his judgment may have been warped away now and then by the feeling he expressed when, after Second Manassas, Sharpsburg, Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville, he said, "No general ever commanded such troops as those under me." But his mind was too mathematical in its workings, and all his calculations were too habitually based upon what could be done with a given number of men and a certain amount of material to make him forget the vast disparity between the contestants or hope for ultimate triumph.—John S. Wise in Circle Magazine.

A WITTY JUDGE.

His Conclusions on the Evidence of Ditto and True.

The late Hon. Noah Davis, well known throughout the country as the judge who tried and sentenced Boss Tweed, was justly celebrated in many ways. He was of that type of jurist for which western New York was famed during the half century following 1850. Orleans county is proud of him as one of her noblest and most distinguished sons. He was slightly above medium height, full habited, large head, fine, clean cut face—indeed, a striking figure in any community. He was a well read lawyer, an honest, fair minded judge, with a keen sense of humor and withal something of a writer and poet. The following lines from his pen, written on the spur of the moment and in the midst of a trial, illustrate the alertness and quality of his mind. They are perhaps the best play upon words of which we have any record in the English language.

It was at the Niagara circuit in the early seventies. Judge Davis presided. An action in ejectment was called. The dispute was over a party wall or a division line. It was purely a question for the civil engineer. The division line established and the case was won. The defendant's attorney, realizing this, called as expert witnesses the Hon. John A. Ditto, city engineer of Buffalo, and the Hon. A. R. True, the engineer who constructed the capta-ure bridge over Niagara river at the falls. They were two of the most eminent civil engineers in the state. They made a survey of the premises and established the division line as contended for by the defendant and when called to the witness stand so testified giving monuments, courses and distances with such minute exactness that they could not be successfully controverted. The moment True, who followed Ditto as a witness, left the stand, Judge Davis wrote these lines and passed them to the clerk to hand to plaintiff's counsel:

Since True swears ditto to Ditto, and Ditto swears ditto to True, If True be true and Ditto be ditto, I think they're too many for you.

—Daniel H. McMillan in Buffalo Truth.

Man and His Sweet Tooth.

"If you want to have that tradition upset about women only having a sweet tooth," remarked the stenographer who works downtown, "just go into a quick lunch room occasionally and watch the men who drink coffee or chocolate with their midday meals. I give you my word I have seen not one, but many men, put six bumps of sugar into their cup of coffee or chocolate and then eat apple pie that is fairly covered with powdered sugar." —New York Press.

Makes a Difference.

A girl who used to make all sorts of fun of those who were poor spellers is now receiving three fat letters a week from a man who can't spell correctly more than forty words altogether. But he has a big, nice house and money in the bank—and that spells something to her. —Howard (Kan) Grant.

Perhaps She Did.

"Did your daughter inherit her talent for drawing?"
"Well, I never thought of it before, but it may be that she did. One of my brothers is a dentist." —Chicago Record-Herald.

MANDAMUS FOR PAYMENT OF FIRE HYDRANT RENTALS

FRIENDLY SUIT AGAINST AUDITOR MAURATH BY COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

The City Has Made No Payment for Fire Hydrant Rentals Since September 1, 1906.

A petition has been filed in the Common Pleas court by F. A. Bolton, solicitor, against Frank T. Maurath et al. Plaintiff says that from January 1, 1906, to January 1, 1908, M. M. Taylor, W. C. Christian and James McVey were all duly elected and acting members of the Board of Public Service of Newark. That prior to and until September 1, 1906, the City of Newark, by virtue of a certain contract with the Newark Water company, had the use of numerous fire hydrants, for the use of which, by the terms of the contract, the city paid the company $1150 per month. That the contract expired September 1, 1906, but the company continued to keep the water in the hydrants at high pressure for fire use, and allowed the city to use the same for fire purposes. That on November 5, 1906, the Board of Public Service authorized the clerk to draw an order on the city auditor for two months, from September 1, 1906, to November 1, 1906, for the sum of $2250, for hydrant rentals. That H. M. Verrill succeeded, by purchase, to all the rights of the Newark Water company. That the Board of Public Service authorized the clerk to draw an order for two months rental, from November 1, to January 1, for $2250. That on January 26, 1908, the Board entered into a contract to supply water for fire purposes with H. M. Verrill. That on February 1, 1908, the board authorized the clerk to draw an order for 12 months' hydrant rental, January 1, 1907, to January 1, 1908, $13,560. That all of the above orders were presented to Frank T. Maurath, city auditor, and demand made on him to issue an order on the city treasury for their payment. That Maurath then and there utterly refused and still refuses to issue his orders on the city treasury to pay the money. Plaintiff prays that a writ of mandamus issue against Maurath as auditor, commanding him to draw his orders as aforesaid. An alternative writ of mandamus was issued, directing Maurath to issue the orders, or appear before the Court of Common Pleas on the 15th of February and show cause why a refusal is made. Bolton, city solicitor.

As Judge Frazier was sick in bed the date of hearing could not be fixed, but will probably come up for hearing within the next few weeks.

Brown vs. Brown.

The divorce case of Anna M. Brown vs. Robert Brown was dismissed this morning in the Probate court by the plaintiff.

Ditch Improvement.

In the matter of the county ditch improvement No. 8, petitioned for by Irvin Halliday and others, the county commissioners met at the place of beginning in the vicinity of the old "jigdon road" and went over the line of the proposed improvement. The board not being satisfied as to the amount of fall in the ditch, County Surveyor Gilpatrick was instructed to go over the line and run levels over the same, make plan, find the amount of fall and report finding to the board April 1, at the county commissioners' office.

WEDDINGS

PUGH-GARRISON.

A beautiful, but simple wedding took place Wednesday at 9 o'clock at St. Paul's Episcopal church, Rev. Huntington performing the ceremony. The bride was Miss Ethel Garrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Garrison of East Main street, the groom being Mr. Joseph Pugh of Newark, Ohio. The bride was led to the beautifully banked altar of palms by her father. She wore an elegant traveling suit of light tan broadcloth, with gloves to match, and a stunning hat of black trimmed in black plumes. The young couple left for a wedding trip to many Eastern points and upon their return will be at home to their many friends at the Sherwood Hotel, Newark. Mr. Pugh has a host of friends in that city and is quite popular as a competent business man and in society circles. Among the guests were Mr. Robert Pugh of Lisbon, O., and Miss Rose Pugh of Newark, O. The bride has lived in Richmond but a short time and has made many friends and acquaintances and has been quite popular in social circles.—Richmond Palladium.
